

The New Geography of Care: From Floor Plan to Fluid Network

Care used to be workstation-centric and room-bound. Modern care is fluid, following clinicians across devices and locations.

So what?

66%

of healthcare employees say they're burdened by too many communication tools.

64%

say they lack appropriate communication tools for their specific roles.

67%

of communication errors are related to handoffs.

Design communication to move wherever care goes. Learn more:
The New Geography of Care: Mobility as a Clinical Imperative